

12/13/06

Sean's work over the last ten years has made a major contribution to the art of storytelling. His patience with those of us from around the world who are forever trying to come to grips with this virtual age has been staggering. He has dragged us kicking and screaming into the twenty first century and in doing so has exposed us to the whole world. Of all the lists I'm on Storyteller net gets me most enquiries. It is entertaining, informative and of immense practical help to all of us involved in storytelling. He deserved to be recognized for his work.

John Row
Suffolk, England